STATEMENT FROM HOUSE MAJORITY LEADER ON REMOTE HOUSE SESSIONS

Today, the House Republican Leader sent a statement condemning the House for the cost of the Legislature meeting remotely. House Majority Leader Doug Ley (D-Jaffrey) released the following statement:

“The New Hampshire House has 400 members, many above age 60, and clearly cannot meet in the House chamber given the current conditions. New Hampshire has received nearly $2 billion in federal funds to help the state function through the pandemic and spending a tiny fraction of those funds on a system to allow safe meetings of the legislature is perfectly reasonable. The Republican leader should cool off and take a walk outside, but be sure to wear a mask to protect the health of himself and others.”
